In Case You Missed It: Hillary Clinton to Visit Buckeye State

(Cleveland) – Ohio will once again play a key role in selecting the next President of the United States. Candidates from each Party will visit our state seeking to secure the 20 electoral votes Ohio has to offer and in the process the voters will have a chance to gauge for themselves the relevant issues and ideas each candidate presents.

Former first lady and current Democrat candidate Hillary Clinton is the next in the long line to visit our state and she brings with her an unclear message on foreign and domestic policy. While her husband served in office for eight years, the last two fighting off impeachment proceedings, her flagship program of a national health care plan coupled with Medicare reform were abandoned. Recently Clinton named Stephanie Tubbs-Jones (OH Congressional 11th District) as her National Co-Chair despite the fact that Tubbs-Jones district has been abandoned, boarded up and shipped off due to increasing crime, drugs and a lack of funding to keep jobs and potential employers within the district.

“Ohio and the nation cannot afford a commander-in-chief that flips positions on important issues like national security and is indifferent to finishing foreign and domestic policies which she indicates are her top priorities. Now more than ever we need decisive, comprehensible leadership that can be trusted to finish what they started” said Rob Frost, Chairman of the Republican Party of Cuyahoga County.
